

FOLLOW YOUR FEET™

IN 2003,
KEEN WAS BORN WITH A SIMPLE QUESTION...

CAN A SANDAL PROTECT YOUR TOES?

YES

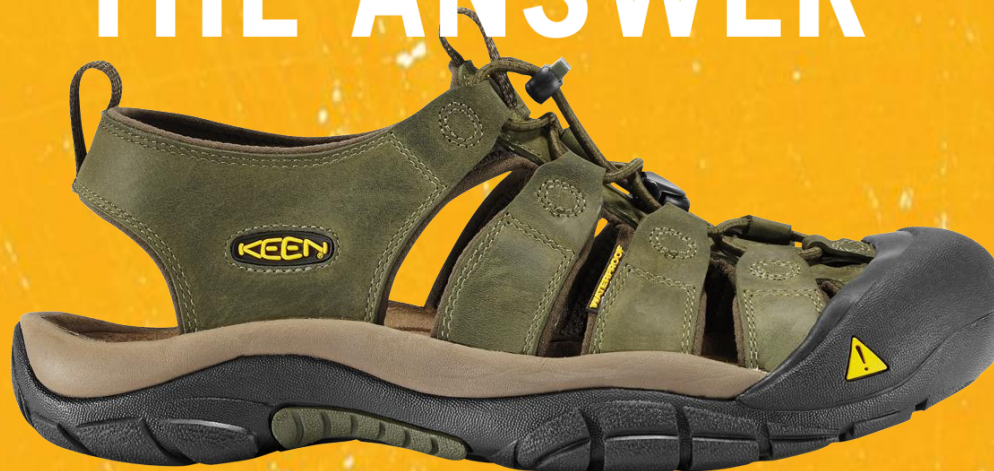

The KEEN logo is displayed in a black oval with a yellow border, set against a white background that resembles a piece of paper.

THE ORIGINAL
HYBRID SANDAL

A red silhouette of a bridge and city skyline is positioned in the upper left corner of the advertisement.

THE ANSWER

THE KEEN NEWPORT

A green silhouette of three pine trees is located in the bottom left corner.A blue wavy line graphic is positioned at the bottom of the advertisement.

ABOUT KEEN

KEEN began by asking a simple design question:
Can a sandal protect the toes? The answer was yes.

The answer was the Newport.
This one radical departure for sandals inspired the overriding KEEN philosophy of hybrid innovation, of striving to create new possibilities in everything we do – pushing ourselves to discover and implement original ideas in our products and challenging ourselves to consider each choice we make. As we grow we promise to continue seeking product solutions for life's everyday needs. Designing shoes for your HybridLife and incorporating processes that reduce our impact on the places you play.

ABOUT KEEN

KEEN, Inc. is an American shoe manufacturing company based in Portland, Oregon. Founded in 2003 by Martin Keen and Rory Fuerst, their shoes are now available in more than a thousand retail locations in the United States, and are distributed worldwide.

The first KEEN shoes were invented to develop a sandal that could also protect the toes - they feature a signature thick black bumper covering the toes. They found a ready market in sailing and other outdoor and water activities. KEEN Footwear now offers shoes for many outdoor activities as well as casual shoes.

ABOUT KEEN

KEEN has been a fast-growing company since its inception. The company was named 2003's "Launch of the Year" by the shoe industry's leading trade publication, Footwear News, which also identified it as a hot brand to watch. As KEEN has grown, there have been many changes, including the addition of a variety of footwear styles to their previous assortment, growing their casual business quickly, adding cold weather footwear, and a line of bags and socks. In early 2006, the company relocated its headquarters from Alameda, California to Portland, Oregon. At the same time, Kirk Richardson joined the company as its president after a 27-year career in management at nearby Nike, Inc. As of October 2008, Richardson is leading KEEN's corporate social responsibility efforts and James Curleigh joined the company as CEO after 12 years as CEO at Salomon Sports North America.

ABOUT KEEN

In reaction to the 2004 Asian Tsunami, KEEN took their marketing budget and donated it in total to relief efforts. This gesture turned into their long-term Hybrid. Care program, where they partner with organizations whose vision they share, including The Conservation Alliance, 1 KG More, Leave No Trace, and Big City Mountaineers. In 2009, the 100-employee company had estimated sales of $130 to $140 million. The company opened a plant in Portland in 2010 to begin manufacturing some of their products in the United States.

KEEN CONCEPT

HybridLife

CREATE. PLAY. CARE.

CREATE. PLAY. CARE.

[Tell us how you live a HybridLife]

KEEN CONCEPT

CREATE.

Create, Play, Care.

It's a way of life, we call it HybridLife.

We all live many lives splitting our time between work, play and giving back.

At KEEN we call this living a HybridLife.

HybridLife is the KEEN mantra, our commitment to create solutions in our product and business practices, to design footwear, bags and socks that enable you to play anyplace without a ceiling; and our promise to care for each other and the world around us. We invite you to join us in tossing on a pair of KEEN shoes, socks or a bag and to diving head first into living a HybridLife.

KEEN CONCEPT

PLAY.

KEEN products are designed with play in mind. From mountains to deserts to city streets the KEEN playground is anyplace without a ceiling.

But we've noticed something distressing; the moments for play are becoming less frequent. Fun is being replaced by frantic. Life has become more about survive, less about thrive. So we asked, can KEEN be a solution to today's hectic world? Can we help more people live the HybridLife? The answer is simple.

KEEN is bringing recess back.

KEEN CONCEPT

CARE.

Hybrid.CARE™

When KEEN started in 2003 we made a promise to ourselves.

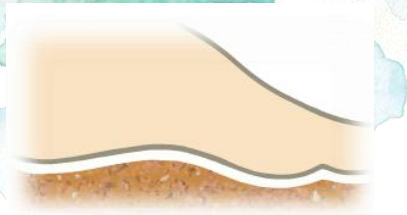

If the little shoe with a big toe bumper ever caught on, things would be done differently—we had the chance to act on that inspiration quickly. With only a year of business under our belt, KEEN already had a history of supporting good causes.

Since then, we've partnered with non-profit organizations around the world to help turn ideals into actions. From getting youth into the outdoors, to protecting land for its environmental and recreational value, to giving bikes to kids in need, we stand beside our partners, actively working for change instead of hoping for it from the sidelines

HARVEST TOTE (Repurposed)

The background is a vibrant watercolor wash in shades of purple, teal, and green. A white banner with a torn, hand-cut edge is positioned horizontally across the middle of the image. The text on the banner is in a bold, black, sans-serif font. There are several small, circular blue ink splatters scattered across the watercolor background, particularly in the upper and middle sections.
